Launch of JT-sponsored IoD winter seminar series

JT is once again proud to sponsor the Institute of Directors Guernsey Winter Seminar series, which begins on Friday 4 November. The first seminar will be held at 12.30pm at the Digital Greenhouse. The title of the seminar will be 'Airlinks for Business' and there will be a panel consisting of Lyndon Trott, Vice-President of the Policy and Resources Committee, Aurigny Chairman Andrew Haining, and businessman and former politician Stuart Falla.

James Ede-Golightly, IoD Committee member and series organiser, said:

"Our seminars have never shied away from tackling challenging topics and air links are certainly a major talking point at the moment. With such a knowledgeable panel and a business audience who will naturally want affordable and reliable transport links, I expect that any debate will be informed and rational, as well as lively."

Tamara O'Brien, Deputy Managing Director of JT Guernsey said: "We're pleased to continue to support the IoD by providing these topical and well-attended lunchtime events for its membership. The series begins with a subject that is important and relevant to the whole business community, and I'm sure the quality of debate will be high.

"As the only locally owned communications provider in the Channel Islands, we are committed to supporting local industry and our long-standing partnership with the IoD, as sponsor of this seminar series, enables us to get right to the heart of bringing leading local business figures together for thought-provoking discussion. We wish the IoD every success for this Winter Seminar series."
