Highly respected financial services executive joins JT Group Board

A former Director of Financial Services for the States of Jersey and Head of AIB Bank in the Channel Islands and Isle of Man has been appointed as a Non-Executive Director of JT.

Jersey-based Joe Moynihan joins the Group Board of the Channel Islands' largest and only locally owned telecommunications company.

In addition to leading AIB Bank and his work in government, Mr Moynihan has enjoyed a long and varied career in financial services. This includes being Chief Executive Officer of the International Corporate Centre of Ras Al Khaimah, one of the seven emirates that make up the United Arab Emirates, and advising Jersey's Finance industry on the development of banking in the island. He is also a past-president of the Jersey Bankers' Association.

Mr Moynihan said: "The success of Jersey and Guernsey's financial services industries has been built on speedy, robust and reliable communications so I'm delighted to be joining the Board of a visionary company that plays such a pivotal role in ensuring our islands are among the most connected places in the world."

JT's new Chairman, Phil Male, said: "Joe's senior-level commercial and public-sector experience, as well as his track record of managing business growth and developing talent, will be hugely beneficial to the JT Board, as will his wealth of Channel Island knowledge. I look forward to his valued input."
